

SECTION I: THE DOCTOR & PATIENT

Chapter 1: The Medical Interview

Chapter 2: Empathy

Chapter 3: Delivering Serious News

Chapter 4: Difficult Patients/Difficult Situations

Chapter 5: Suggestion & Hypnosis

Chapter 6: Practitioner Well-Being

Chapter 7: Mindful Practice

SECTION II: GLOBAL HEALTH

Chapter 8: Global Health and Behavioral Medicine

Chapter 9: Environment, Health, and Behavior

Chapter 10: Training of International Medical Graduates

SECTION III: WORKING WITH SPECIFIC POPULATIONS

Chapter 11: Families

Chapter 12: Children

Chapter 13: Adolescents

Chapter 14: Older Patients

Chapter 15: Cross-Cultural Communication

Chapter 16: Women

Chapter 17: Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, & Queer Patients

Chapter 18: Vulnerable Patients

SECTION IV: HEALTH-RELATED BEHAVIOR

Chapter 19: Behavior Change

Chapter 20: Patient Adherence

Chapter 21: Tobacco Use

Chapter 22: Obesity

Chapter 23: Eating Disorders

Chapter 24: Unhealthy Alcohol & Other Substance Use

Chapter 25: Opioids

SECTION V: MENTAL & BEHAVIORAL DISORDERS

Chapter 26: Depression

Chapter 27: Anxiety

Chapter 28: Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder

Chapter 29: Somatic Symptom & Related Disorders

Chapter 30: Personality Disorders

Chapter 31: Psychosis

Chapter 32: Sleep Disorders

Chapter 33: Sexual Problems

Chapter 34: Dementia & Delirium

SECTION VI: SPECIALTOPICS

Chapter 35: Integrative Medicine

Chapter 36: Stress & Disease

Chapter 37: HIV/AIDS

Chapter 38: Pain

Chapter 39: Errors in Medical Practice

Chapter 40: Intimate Partner Violence

Chapter 41: Trauma

Chapter 42: Palliative Care, Hospice, & Care of theDying

SECTION VII: TEACHINGAND ASSESSMENT

Chapter 43: Competency-Based Education for BehavioralMedicine

Chapter 44: Teaching Behavioral Medicine: Theory &Practice

Chapter 45: Assessing Learners & Curricula in theBehavioral & Social Sciences

Chapter 46: Evidence-Based Behavioral Practice

Chapter 47: Narrative Medicine

Chapter 48: Educating for Professionalism

Chapter 49: Trainee Well-Being